amfAR: The Mission

our mission is to end the global AIDS epidemic through innovative research.

amfAR, The Foundation for AIDS Research, is the world's leading nonprofit organization dedicated to the support of AIDS research, HIV prevention, treatment education, and advocacy.

Summer 1981

The first reports of a mysterious new disease affecting young gay men were brought to the attention of a researcher at New York’s Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center.

April 1983

Drs. Krim and Sonnabend, along with Michael Callen and a few others in New York City, founded the AIDS Medical Foundation (AMF), the first private organization in the world dedicated to raising funds to support scientific and medical research on AIDS.

September 1985

The American Foundation for AIDS Research (amfAR) was formed through the unification of AMF with the like-minded National AIDS Research Foundation, which had been incorporated in California in August 1985.
