This exceptional pair of Haute Joaillerie earrings from Chopard's Temptations Collection captures the irresistible beauty of Nature's most vivid hues.

They unfold as a cascade of exceptional gemstones, showcasing Chopard's virtuosity in transforming them into creations of movement, light, and emotions.

Crafted in 18-carat Ethical white gold, the design is articulated around two sumptuous briolette-cut tanzanites totalling 50 carats, whose violet-blue tones are enhanced by two pear-shaped tanzanites totalling 7.5 carats and two marquise-cut aquamarines totalling 3 carats, alongside a harmonious composition of pink and blue sapphires, rubies, and amethysts.

Since 1860, Chopard has cultivated a unique vision of Haute Joaillerie. Guided by the Scheufele family over three generations, the Maison continues to create extraordinary jewels that embody both emotion and excellence, while championing a sustainable approach to luxury.
